THE NEWS.

Piqua, O. Sept. 30.—The saloon of Milton Moxel, the only one in the village of Gordon, southwest of this city was blown to atoms at midnight by dynamite; nobody hurt.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27.—Kasper Layman, an Alabama negro, passed through the city today. He is on his way to New York to arrange for the exodus of five hundred negroes from the neighborhood of Mobile, Alabama, to Liberia.

Dayton, O., Sept. 30.—Friday was pension day at the Soldiers Home and the veterans were paid $150,000. A few of them visited the dunes in the vicinity of the institution Saturday and were robbed. At 1 o'clock this morning two of the old soldiers were found robbed and murdered and their bodies lying in the public road and their pockets turned inside out.

Denver, Sept. 27.—The gold product of Colorado for 1894 will reach $12,000,000, the largest in the history of the State, and a conservative estimate shows that the State will produce $20,000,000 and probably $25,000,000 in 1895, and that thereafter the gold product of that State will reach that of the silver and will even exceed it.

London, Oct. 1.—A dispatch to the Times from Frankfurt says that the London correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung telegraphs that he has learned from an excellent source that Japan, she is victorious over China intends to divide China into three independent kingdoms, which will be placed under the rule of native princes, one of whom will be Li Hung Chang. If necessary, Japan will call a conference of the powers to decide the matter.

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 30.—A correspondent in Rivera, Brazil, sends word that fighting has broken out again in the province of Rio Grande do Sul, between the rebels and the government troops at four different points, and that the insurgents are getting the better of it. They have arms and ammunition and declare that they intend to fight to the bitter end. In all the frontier towns the people are joining the revolution, and the affair seems to be a opening of the war.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 30.—A single tax colony, to be operated on the single tax theory of Henry George has been located near Daphne, Baldwin county, Ala., on the eastern shore of Mobile Bay. It will be composed of one hundred families, mostly from Iowa. The colony will engage in truck farming, fruit culture, canning and rail and tub manufacturing to begin with. A high grade school will be among the colony's first established institutions.

Omaha, Sept. 26.—The Democratic State Convention, which met here today, after much wrangling between the Bryan and anti-Bryan or Administration factions, split on the question of fusion with the Populists. The 164 anti-fusionists bolted and will nominate a separate ticket. Before the split the platform was adopted endorsing the election of United States Senators by popular vote, and Congressmen Wm. J. Bryan was formally nominated for United States Senator.

After the adoption of the platform the leaders of the fusion and anti-fusion factions announced an agreement and Judge Holcomb, the Populist candidate for Governor, was endorsed by a large majority. Before the ticket was completed the anti-fusionists bolted and great confusion.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 26.—A sensation was in this city tonight when it was announced that Abe Patterson Post No. 88 of the G. A. R. in Allegheny, had held a meeting condemning the proposed dedication of a Confederate monument with the Confederate flag raised aloft at the next national encampment of the G. A. R. in Louisville. A copy of the Courier-Journal containing a description of the monument and proposed dedication was read at the meeting and created a storm of indignation, followed by speeches from prominent members urging that the post refuse to attend the encampment, and use its influence to prevent the members of the G. A. R. from attending in large numbers. It was finally decided that a committee be appointed to investigate the real plans of the ex-Confederates and if the dedication is to occur at the next encampment and the Confederate flag is to float, the veterans will refuse to march under its folds or to attend the encampment.

Montevideo, Uruguay, Sept. 27.—Admiral De Gama reports that there has been rioting in Rio de Janeiro, lasting five days, accompanied by outrages on Portuguese merchants, instigated directly by President Peixoto, who incited soldiers, dressed as citizens, to make an attack on pretense that they wanted to break up a meeting of royalist conspirators.

Rio, it is reported, looks like one vast military camp, cavalry encamped in public gardens and launches patrolling the harbor front.

The number of killed is stated to be 328 and 213 wounded entering the hospitals. Many of the wounded were taken to their homes. Most of the fighting occurred near the water edge and many bodies were cast into the harbor. The damage to the property of Portuguese, French and other foreign residents will amount to over a million and a half of dollars.

New York, Sept. 27.—Captain W. Howgate, formerly chief of the weather bureau at Washington, was arrested in this city on the charges of forgery and embezzlement of $300,000, committed in 1878 and 1879. The arrest is the result of a search which has occupied the attention of the United States secret service for over thirteen years.

Howgate was arrested in 1880 in Washington, but having obtained permission from the officers to go to his room to dress, he escaped from the window and has since baffled all efforts at capture. With Howgate there was a notorious woman of Washington, for whom it is alleged he robbed the government.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 26.—Judge George Denny, jr., was nominated by acclamation by the Republican convention here this afternoon as a candidate for Congress against W. C. Owens, the Democratic nominee. In his speech of acceptance he made a strong and undisguised bid for the Breckinridge vote. He overrid the thing and praised Breckinridge so highly that many Republicans will be driven away from him. Col. John O. Hodges occupied the rostrum, and Prof. J. T. Patterson, Nat F. Berry, and other prominent Breckinridge men were close up in the audience and seemed to take the deepest interest in the proceedings.

A Mob is After Him.
Clarksville, Tenn., Sept. 29.—Will S. Grifey, colored, assaulted the daughter of a farmer at Lafayette, Christian county, Ky. A mob is after him, and if caught he will be lynched.

IMPERIALISM IN CHINA.

Superstitious Reverence of the People for their Ruler. Notable Awakening.

Once Shattered by Defeat. Their Feelings May Give Way to Insurrection.

[New York Sun.]

It is now to be expected that all news of Japanese victories will be strenuously denied and contradicted by the Chinese. No matter how rough the victory, the denial will remain the same. If an entire army of twenty thousand troops was simply annihilated, as was the case at Ping Yang, the Chinese government would issue a report claiming a victory and a subsequent retreat in order to secure a stronger position. The reason of this falsification is one that affects the very constitution of the empire. The Emperor of China is the Son of Heaven. He alone, of the four hundred and fifty millions who call him sovereign, is entitled to worship directly and to pray to heaven in his own right. The Chinese statesmen for three thousand years have denied to the common people the right of direct prayer to the Almighty. All they can do is to pray to lesser divinities, and among whom is the Emperor, so that he and they will in turn intercede for the suppliant before the great judgment seat of the other world.

In the Chinese system it is impossible to defeat the Son of Heaven, and the history of the land has borne out this idea for at least thirty centuries. When great revolutions have occurred they have been explained upon the ground that a usurper occupied the throne, and that the rightful Son of Heaven had simply come to enjoy his own. This explanation sufficed for the manifold changes that have occurred in the Flowery Kingdom for thousands of years.

It received its first deadly blow when the English and French captured Peking and sacked the world famous Winter Palace. A second, but smaller blow was inflicted on this theory by the Taiping rebellion, when the Imperial throne kept its place by the aid of foreign devils on the one side and officers of its army, and by the British men of war upon the other hand.

This was a terrible awakening for the people of the districts involved in that civil war, who saw for the first time that they were vastly inferior to the unknown and mysterious barbarians of Europe.

Today, when a struggle prevails between the Son of Heaven and a country which all the Chinese books insist upon calling an uncivilized apogee of the Chinese empire, it must be a thunderbolt to the thinking people to learn that the barbarians are victorious and that the protégés of the Celestial world have been defeated on land and sea. There is much superstition in China and much fear of the Emperor as the spiritual head of the church. If however his forces are beaten and his power laid in the dust, it is but a question of time when revolts will occur in all the districts which will lead together by the superstitious fear of the power of the throne.

There is no limit to the myths and superstitions which attach themselves to the imperial throne. It is believed by the common people that the Emperor possesses supernatural power, and that his judgments are dictated by spiritual influences so powerful that human craft and cunning can not avail against them. One myth credits the Emperor with the ability to see through the magical or false impersonation of one person by another; another ascribes to him the gift of being able to understand all tongues; a third one makes him an astrologer who can predict the movement of the stars, and who can tell the horoscope of any person upon whom his eyes may alight. He is universally known as the "Son of Heaven."

His general titles come very close to the European ones, such as "Your Highness," or "Your Excellency," but are not quite so exaggerated as the Spanish and Portuguese epithets. He is believed to be always victorious and it is almost treason to suppose that his armies can be defeated. It is this that makes him an object of reverence to the 450,000,000 who populate the empire of China. This is their chief bond of allegiance and public spirit. When therefore they learn that the great armies of this omnipotent sovereign and the navies which have cost more hard cash than the average Chinaman is able to calculate, or even name, have been defeated by a foreign power, the Son of Heaven from his pedestal and becomes merely an ordinary human being like the officials in every district.

China is always on the verge of insurrection and civil war. It is only held together by the tremendous civil power which centers in Peking. This power is as much spiritual as it is physical. Let the spiritual element be destroyed, and let the populace once learn that the physical power is as nothing compared with that of other nations, then riot and revolution are bound to ensue.

As things now stand it needs no prophet to predict that within the next twelve months there will be rebellions and uprisings all over the empire and that if these are utilized by the Japanese in their struggle with the Colossus of Asia, the great land will be dismembered and broken into fragments for the erection of new dynasties.

It is hard for an American to appreciate the extent to which the imperial idea permeates the entire social and legal systems of the country. Whenever any person does anything of note, such as saving life, making an important discovery, or performing some act of heroism, the deed is reported to the Emperor, and by a fiction of the Chinese law the recognition and reward come from the Emperor direct. It is in this way that the throne is made a living fact, in every community, no matter how small, through the whole length and breadth of the land. Although an autocrat and a despot of the first water, he is better known in an indirect way by his millions of subjects than is the President of the United States to the people of the American continent.

The city of Hing King upon which the Japanese are reported to be advancing, in their march upon Moukden, the metropolis of the Province of Shingking, and of the larger district of Manchuria, is a small but beautiful city some ninety miles from Wiju, on the Yalu river. It has a population of between four and five thousand, and is famous in the Dragon empire as being the place where nearly all the Manchou emperors have been buried. The city was at one time a large place, with a population of forty or fifty thousand, but it has dwindled down through the years to its present condition.

It contains hundreds of houses that are unoccupied and in ruins. The tombs are located on the west and southern sides of a large mountain, three miles away, to the northeast of the city. They have been visited by several German and British officials and travelers. The road from Wiju to Hing King is well paved and adapted for military purposes. The pass through the Laining mountains is broad and convenient, and the city, though walled, would offer no resistance to a modern army. Hing King is sixty miles east of Moukden, the metropolis of Manchuria, and is connected with that great city by what is claimed to be the best road in China. In four different wars this road was covered in a single day by the Mongolian, Manchurian and Korean armies.

If the Japanese go there it is more as a matter of dramatic effect than of strategy. They will capture the tombs of all the ancestors of the present Emperor, and in that way strike a chill into the hearts of millions of Chinese who believe that every tomb is inhabited by the ghost of the body buried within it.

Such a thing would have no effect in a civilized community, but in the far east, superstition ridden and addicted to all forms of heathenism as it is, it would have an influence more profound than we can either understand or appreciate.

The garrison at Hing King are wild horsemen from Tse Tsehar, in Northern Manchuria. They are stolid brave and active to the last degree. They are armed with spears, bows and arrows, swords and daggers, shields and look more like barbaric warriors of a Christmas pantomime than like real soldiers.

FIRE IN THE PEN.

The Branch Prison at Eddyville Suffers a Big Loss.

Eddyville, Ky., Sept. 29.—At 3 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the broom making department of the Revolutionary. The flames quickly spread and soon communicated to the wagon material department adjoining. After the three hundred convicts in the prison had poured water on the blaze for hours it was brought under control, and was finally extinguished, but not before the largest workshop was damaged to a considerable extent by heat.

At the beginning of the conflagration the cell doors were unlocked and the prisoners formed into a fire brigade. While guards stood by with locked guns the "zebras" fought the flames to a standstill, and after a hard battle succeeded in entirely wiping them out. The blaze was not extinguished before the burned area had grown to considerable proportions, however.

The origin is unknown. Some claim that the fire was of incendiary origin and was started by some inmate of the pen, who hoped to escape in the ensuing confusion.

The broom factory, together with its machinery and the stock on hand, was almost a total loss. A good part of the wagon material manufactory was lost. The amount of damage was ten thousand dollars. Two thirds of this sum will fall on the wagon room. The rest is lost in the broom shop. There was no insurance and the State will be the loser.

Another Account.

Eddyville, Sept. 29.—At 2:40 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the main factory of the Central Broom company, and before any organized efforts reduce the flames could be inaugurated the fire was under fierce headway. The broom factory, and the Eddyville wagon material company adjoining it, were soon consumed. No insurance. Loss $15,000.

STEVENSON FOR PRESIDENT.

Representative Springer Thinks The Vice President Will Be The Nominee.

Cincinnati, Sept. 29.—Congressman and Mrs. William M. Springer, of Illinois, are here visiting their son, who is chaplain at Fort Thomas. Mr. Springer said: "I can not say a word about David B. Hill, for I do not know a thing about New York politics. But I believe this. I believe that the next Presidential nominee for the Democracy must be a Western man, and I think he will be Adlai Stevenson, our Vice President. Morrison and Black are both strong men and probabilities, but I am of opinion that it will be Stevenson. I hardly look for Morton, of New York to be the next Republican nominee. If the issue is made on the tariff then it will be McKinley. But I am of the opinion that the tariff will not be the issue."

MANY TO GO.

Clerical Force in the Treasury Department to be Reorganized.

Washington, Sept. 29.—The Dockery act, passed at the last session of Congress for the reorganization of the clerical force of the Treasury Department will go into effect Oct. 1. This act reduces the clerical force of the department 157, which necessitates many dismissals. In anticipation of this reduction the Secretary, during the last six months has not called on the Civil Service Commission for any certificates to fill vacancies as they have occurred, preferring to retain as many of the old clerks as was possible.

Some days ago 42 clerks, drawing salaries ranging from $900 to $1,800 per year, were dropped from the rolls, and Monday 88 others will be placed on the temporary roll to do up back work, and when that is done, probably before the end of the calendar year, they will also be dropped, if not otherwise provided for. The new law abolishes two whole divisions, the offices of Commissioner of Customs and that of the Second Controller of the Treasury, while the force in the first controller's office will be materially reduced, the work being distributed among the other divisions. The statement is made at the Treasury Department that of the eighty-eight clerks who will be placed on the temporary rolls at least fifty of them will be retained.

Carlisle's Silver Coinage.

For more than two months past, frequent mention has been made by Washington correspondents of the resumption of silver dollar coinage by order of the Secretary of the Treasury. Various conjectures have been made in regard to the matter, such as that the Secretary was coining dollars for political purposes in the Southern States, and would stop after the election was over, and that he was merely working off a lot of "blanks" which were prepared for coining many months ago.

To put an end to these conjectures Secretary Carlisle wrote a letter for publication to Representative J. B. Heard, of the free silver crowd. He stated that the dollar coinage amounted to $430,000 in July and $728,000 in August, that about the latter sum would be coined this month, "and thereafter such amount will be coined as the Secretary may consider advisable under the circumstances."

He further states that the seigniorage on the amount coined was paid into the Treasury and used for the ordinary purposes of the government, and the remainder was held to provide for the redemption of the Sherman notes, as required by law.

He stated that his authority for this coinage was conferred by the 3d section of the Sherman act, which provided that two million ounces of the bullion purchased in pursuance of the act should be coined each month until July 1, 1891, and thereafter as much should be coined as might "be necessary to provide for the redemption of the treasury notes." He further stated that during the eleven months ending with August 3, 1891, 3,970,727 silver dollars coined under this provision of the law, were paid out in redemption of Sherman notes, which were retired and canceled. This process is still going on daily, and will be continued. —Chicago Herald.

ONE YEAR ONE DOLLAR

The Berry Rich affair is deeply regretted by the citizens of Crittenden county. It does not add to the good name of the county; to strangers it will appear that we are not a law abiding people. No matter how provoking or exasperating the conduct of a few lawless fellows, the shameful death of Berry Rich is totally inexcusable. Human life is too sacred a thing to be thus ruthlessly taken. Every man is entitled to meet his accusers face to face in the courts of his country. No man gets so high, and none sink so low, that he is not entitled to a fair hearing before a jury of his peers. There are times when reviving in human crimes arouse the human soul to such righteous indignation that forbearance is almost impossible, and the demand for speedy justice, coupled with intense excitement, blunt the reasoning faculties, and blind the eyes of men to all other considerations, but this was not one of them, and we are happy to say that the good people of Bell's Mines, condemn and deplore the affair. Berry Rich's home was a poor one, and his life may not have been valuable to the world, but that home was his castle and should not have been invaded, except by the hand of the law, and that life was dearer to the wife and his prattling children than any crowned head of earth. Again we say, the people of Crittenden county, including ninety-nine per cent. of those of Bell's Mines, condemn the unwarranted deed.

The Appellate Judgeship.

In all of the eighteen counties comprising the Appellate Court District, mass meetings were held Saturday and delegates appointed to the convention which convenes in Princeton tomorrow to nominate a candidate for Judge. The convention will be composed of 181 delegates, and the candidates who get 66 of these gets the nomination. Judge Grace has 50 instructed votes, Judge White 34, Mr. Yeaman 28, and Judge Bishop 19. While Grace is in the lead, and the chances are greatly in his favor, the matter of a nomination is not yet a foregone conclusion.

David Bennett Hill's star still hangs high over the great empire State. The battle between him and ex-Vice President Morton for the governorship will be worth watching. The recent naval engagement in the Gulf of Corea was a lively bout, but keep your eye on Dave and Levi.

The Republican candidate for congress in the Second congressional district was fined, a few days ago, in the Owensboro city court for gambling. The Second will vindicate herself by defeating Lige, thereby frowning upon such unstatesmanlike conduct.

Calloway county will vote upon a proposition to appropriate $20,000 for a new court house, and Trigg county will also vote upon a court house proposition. These are perilous times for the success of such enterprises.

The report of the Third Auditor of the Treasury for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1894, shows the total disbursements at pension agencies on account of pensions for that year were $137,636,981.

No Candidate.

The Republican congressional convention, which was held at Princeton yesterday, voted to place no candidate in the field for Congress this year.

A MOB'S WORK.

Berry Rich Called from his House in the Night and Hung.

SOMETHING ABOUT WILLIAM GOODE.

Berry Rich lived on a farm about 9 miles a little east of north from Marion, and about one and a half miles north of the country store of Mr. E. C. Moore, known as Mattoon. About 3 o'clock Monday morning Rich and his family were awakened from their slumbers by a call from near the door. Rich answered the summons and after lighting a lamp and dressing himself, he went to the door and invited the unknown person or persons to come in and take a seat. The reply was, "we are in a hurry and want you to go with us up to the cross lanes to the sycamore, to meet Bill Goode, who wants to see you." Rich stepped out, several men came from around the house, and Berry Rich went up the public road with them never to return alive. At daylight he had not returned and his son-in-law, Gus Query, of Blackford, Ky., and Rich's son started in search of him. Following the foot prints made in the dust of the highway during the night, they went down the road some three hundred yards and there, in plain view of the road, held in a standing position by a rope around the neck, was the dead body of Berry Rich, cold and stiff in death. One end of an ordinary grass rope had been evidently been used during the season as a plow line, was tied to a limb (about two inches in diameter, and eight or nine feet from the ground) of a small sycamore tree; the other end was around Rich's neck, tied in the regular hangman fashion; the feet were resting on the ground, hands hanging at his side, and face somewhat swollen. The tree stood at the edge of a little clearing, and on a hill and about four hundred feet from the front door of Wm. Rich's residence, which is only a cabin. The news was soon scattered over the neighborhood. Justice of the Peace Taylor was sent for; when he arrived a jury was summoned and an inquest held. The verdict was that Berry Rich came to his death by hanging, at the hands of unknown parties. The body was cut over and carried to the cemetery, where it remained until late in the afternoon when the internment took place at Mt. Zion cemetery. Mrs. Rich, wife of the dead man, was called upon by a representative of the Press, just before the burial. She is a stout woman of perhaps forty years, not unbecomingly full, but full of determination. She talked freely of the affair, and as she stood in the yard, surrounded by her four small children, one at the breast, detailing the events of the morning, her face lit up with intelligence, while the emotions of anger and sorrow would chase each other across her countenance. When she said, "we would have hit him," there was fire in her eye, and you knew she meant it. When she related how Gus Goode told her the dreadful news a tear came and the lip quivered. Her story was as follows:

MRS. RICH TELLS THE STORY.

"About 3 o'clock Monday morning we were awakened by some one at the door calling for Berry. He got up and told them he would open the door as soon as he got his pants on. He lit the lamp, put on his pants and opened the door and said 'come in and have a chair.' The man outside said, 'we haven't got time; we have Goode up at the cross lanes at the sycamore and want you to go and consult with him.' Berry asked them if they had Goode arrested and they answered 'yes.' Berry asked where his coat was, and while he was dressing they said, 'hurry up, we are in a hurry.' When Berry had finished dressing he stepped outside and a man outside said: 'come on boys.' When they started off I got up and went to the door and heard them ask Berry when he saw Bill Goode. Berry said, 'fellows, I have not seen Goode,' and those were the last words I ever heard him say. I think there were five or six of them. When they were at the door Gus Query cleared up his throat or made some noise that attracted their attention, and they asked who was there. Berry told them it was Gus and his wife.

"Of course Berry nor none of us was expecting any trouble of any kind; had we known or even thought of this terrible thing we would have fought them till we were all killed. We had a gun and two pistols in the house, of these we never even thought. 'Only a day or two ago Berry said to me that he would hate to be in Goode's fix—having to lay out and away from his family. About eight months ago Berry told Goode in my presence that he must keep away from us, that he would have nothing more to do with him; that people were telling him they would have nothing to do with him if he went with Goode. Good said that he didn't give a damn and has not been here since I don't know when.

"About daybreak I began to mistrust something and felt uneasy about Berry staying away so long, and I went to the barn before it was good light. As soon as it was light Gus and Jeff went to hunt him, while I was getting breakfast. Soon Gus came running back and he could hardly talk, and he told us they had hung Berry.

"I did not see one of them. They kept back in the dark. I have no idea who any of them were."

Gus Query, who married Rich's daughter, gave substantially the same account as Mrs. Rich. He lives at Blackford and he and his wife were visiting her father's family. While Mrs. Rich thought there were only five or six, he was sure there must have been a yard full of them. When daylight came he followed the tracks down the road and they led him to the dead man, and he gave the alarm. In the woods near by where Rich's body was found, horses had been hitched.

Berry Rich has been a resident of the county for a number of years. He came here from Webster county some sixteen years ago, and has never been very prosperous. He was a man without much energy, a hard drinker, rarely ever coming to town without getting intoxicated. By many he was regarded as a harmless, inoffensive, rather confiding, shiftless man. He was apparently always in a good humor, ready to do whatever favor asked; and was offended at nothing. He owned a small farm, worth probably $700; his house was a modest, box structure, of three rooms; his family consisted of a wife, two married daughters, one single daughter about grown, three small boys, one in his teens, and a baby. In the neighborhood in which he lives but few men will express an opinion in reference to him. Some regard him as pictured by the foregoing description, while others will shake their heads and say nothing. The consensus of opinion is, however, that he did not deserve the fate he met, and the deed is condemned, and on every hand the affair is regretted by the people of that section of the county.

Who did the deed is of course unknown; nobody hazards a guess and even the surmises are few and unsatisfactory. For the past year or two things have been occurring in that section that have harassed and tormented the people greatly, and about these things they would never talk, and now they will not talk. There are no better people on earth than many in that part of the county, while many of the past month prove that there are some bad characters also. Residences have been burned, barns have been destroyed by fire, hay and wheat stacks consumed, while the good people have been absolutely afraid to even discuss the matter. There was a general feeling in the community that these depredations were chargeable to a certain party, but there was not sufficient evidence to convict any one, and if a man even hinted at what he thought was the truth, it would not be long until he felt the hand of the miscreants. This is the state of affairs that has existed there for many months, and it was these things that led up to the untimely end of Berry Rich. The man whose name was connected most prominently with these various arson and other petty crimes was William Goode, who for two years has been the keeper of the county poor house. Whether he was guilty of them or not most of the people thought his hand was behind them all, and they regarded Berry Rich as associated, to a greater or less extent, with him. Some weeks ago a number of men disguised went to Goode's house, in the night, and searched the place for him, but he was gone, and no one could or would tell his whereabouts. A few days later, according to reliable reports, he sent to a citizen of that section and requested an interview, the meeting to take place on Heath mountain. The citizen went and found Goode and a number of other men in camp, armed and provisioned sufficiently to endure a long siege, and so situated as to command the situation against even a large body of men. Goode wanted to arrange an armistice; he wanted hostilities suspended until he could get his stock and farming implements and household goods away, proposing to leave the county as soon as possible and he wanted the citizen to act as an ambassador in patching up a truce. The citizen did not know Goode's enemies, and told him he could not bear the message, because he did not know where or to whom to take it. Goode is said to have given the information, stating that he knew who they were. A few days later the stock was driven out and everything indicated the speedy departure of Goode; his family were, however, still in charge of the poor house. On Sunday night, according to Mrs. Goode's statement, the mob was there again in search of her husband, the place was again ransacked, but Goode was nowhere to be found. The men were disguised. Some wore masks while others had blackened their faces, and all were strangers to the woman; they told her that they would hang her husband if found. It is some four or five miles from Goode's to Rich's, and a few hours after the visit to the former, Rich was called up and out, and went to his death.

Goode is evidently a bad man, and he is a shrewd, thifty one, too. It is said that he drove out forty or fifty head of cattle, that perhaps he owned a hundred head of hogs, three or four yoke of oxen and log wagons, all of which he moved over into Union county, when the situation got so uncomfortable in this county.

Rich's association with Goode evidently led the mob to believe that he knew where Goode was, that he was connected with him in the unlawful acts; hence its work.

It is very seldom that a young lady has anything to say to this old bach, but the record was broken to-day when one met us on the street this evening and bowed politely and smiled. Ah me, smiled as sweetly and gently said "there is to be a wedding in this town very soon," and casually remarked, "you are not in it, you are out of date, you are a back number, and write things to the Press that are not so."

Hurray for Judge Grace, whether I ever get married or not.

At 10 o'clock this morning, at the residence of Mrs. S. C. Haynes, of this place, Mr. P. C. Stephens and Mrs. Ann Wallingford were united in marriage, Rev. Guthrie officiating. Quite a number of friends witnessed the happy affair, and everybody unites with the Press in extending congratulations.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. Jno. Nunn, one of the oldest citizens of the county, and she is a woman widely admired for her amiable disposition as well as many other womanly virtues. Mr. Stephens is one of our well to do farmers, a man of merit, and one of our best citizens.

THE MASS MEETING.

Largest of Its Kind Ever Held in Marion.

INSTRUCTS FOR JUDGE JOHN R. GRACE.

Pursuant to the call, the Democrats of Crittenden county met in mass convention at the court house at 2 o'clock Saturday, September 29. Between three and four hundred voters were in attendance. The meeting was called to order by P. S. Maxwell, chairman of the county committee. He stated the object of the meeting was to appoint delegates to a convention to be held at Princeton Oct. 5, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals; he said as a rule mass meetings were unpopular, and very noisy affairs but under our new election law primary elections were so expensive that the Appellate Court District Committee had, after due deliberation, decided to hold mass meetings; hence as chairman of the county committee, he was obeying the behest of the district committee in calling this meeting. He said there was no necessity for a hurrah, or any unusual proceeding whatever; let us hold a quiet, peaceful, orderly convention, one that no Democrat need be ashamed of.

Mr. W. I. Cruce placed the name of R. W. Taylor before the convention for chairman, Hon. F. M. Clement nominated P. S. Maxwell for chairman. The vote was taken by Mr. Cruce and Maxwell was chosen.

R. C. Walker was chosen Secretary.

The following resolution was offered by Hon. F. M. Clement: Resolved, That the delegates from this county be and they are hereby instructed to cast the 6 delegate votes of this county in the Princeton convention on October 5th, assembled for the purpose of nominating a Democrat for Judge of the Court of Appeals, upon each and every ballot for Judge John R. Grace, of Trigg county, so long as his name remains before said convention.

And be it further resolved, That the following named Democrats be and they are hereby selected as the delegates from this county, to said convention:

L. W. Cruce, J. B. Kevil, O. M. James, R. C. Walker, F. M. Clement, John M. Clark, A. M. Hearn, A. J. Bennett, A. D. McFee, Bill Asher, T. J. Yates, S. J. Stations, M. C. O'Hara, F. E. Robertson, Alex. Woody, P. S. Maxwell.

As soon as the paper was read a dozen gentlemen were on their feet, some suggesting how the vote should be taken and others offering amendments.

Mr. E. J. Bozeman offered an amendment substituting the name of Malcolm Yeaman in place of John R. Grace.

It was agreed to go to the court house yard and form a Yeaman and a Grace line, on the question before the house: On the ground tellers were appointed and it was announced without a count that the meeting was for Grace, and the original resolution was adopted.

The convention then adjourned.

A special to the Courier-Journal from Sturgis, under date of October 2 says:

"A man named McAfee was arrested today on suspicion of being an accomplice of Berry Rich, who was hanged by a mob for larceny, and of Wm. Goode, who escaped. McAfee had stated while drunk that he would see that Goode was not caught by the mob."

What this case means can not well be defined. No warrants were out for the arrest of any one, and no specific charges have been filed against Goode nor Rich; hence the arrest of any one as an accomplice is hardly probable.

Messrs. R. E. Fowler and Jack Howerton have taken bachelor's quarters in the second story of the Carnahan block. These youngsters are trying to create the impression that they are beyond the marriageable age, but nobody believes this, and their permanent establishment of bachelor rooms is probably only a feint. Who knows but what they are preparing for a double wedding.

Last week Rochester Wallingford made an attack upon Alton Grissom with a knife. Grissom's clothing was cut, but no wound inflicted. They were having a friendly dispute about some trivial matter, when the onslaught was made. Wallingford is under a $200 bond to await an investigation by the grand jury.

Messrs. J. J. Scott, Newton Jacobs, Collie Hill and their families reached home from Kansas Saturday. They made the trip in wagons. A few months ago they went west to seek their fortunes and are now satisfied. When all things are considered, Crittenden is a great county.

A few days ago "Uncle Si" Hughes a prosperous colored farmer of the county, had a fine mare ruined by being shot. He put the animal in his pasture and found her very lame the next day. Dr. Belt was called and found two bullets embedded in the broken bones. Of course the animal is worthless. Why any one should treat "Uncle Si" in that way is a mystery, as he is an industrious, peaceful, law abiding man and a good citizen.

We do not believe any man who voted in the primary will fail to support the nominees. The instincts of honor are too firmly implanted in the breast of the native Kentuckian for him to violate a pledge of this character.—Murray Ledger.

To Whom It May Concern.

Marion, Ky., Sept. 26, '94.

Read what a suffering man says: Marion Medicine Co.—Gentlemen:

—Five years ago, in lifting a log, I sprained my back which caused curvature of the spine, which drew me nearly double. I had Dr. Young, of Golconda, Ill., Drs. Shemwell, Tolley and Lowery, of Livingston county to treat me without any material benefit. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Hood's Sarsaparilla, McLean's Cordial and Fluid Extract Stillingia Compound, with much relief and in the meantime I was suffering a thousand deaths. About Sept. 1st, I bought a fifty cent bottle of Skelton's Tonic and Liver Regulator and took it, and I must say that it has done me more good than all the doctor's treatment and other medicines that I have used in five years. It is truly a wonderful medicine. It regulated my liver and bowels, it cleaned my blood, it gave me a good appetite and I sincerely believe it will make a new man of me. All suffering humanity should use it and live.

Very Respectfully,
Dick Scott

WHAT WE DRANK.

Over Six Billion Glasses of Whisky, Which Cost $600,000,000.

About 12,785,169,200 Glasses of Beer. Costing $617,258,460.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Americans are accounted a fairly sober people, in the early days of the nation, but the figures of the Internal Revenue Commissioner for the past year are enough to make a temperance crank stagger without a drop of whisky or beer; the preacher who preaches them will lie him to the pulpit and tell his congregation what a nation of drunkards we are, stupefied with drink half the year and drugged with tobacco the other half.

Each year we squander upon these inventions of Babel three times as much money as is required to keep this great government in operation, and more than is represented by the circulating medium of the United States. And when the preacher goes to throwing moral bombs he can load them with interesting it not astounding facts, if he chooses.

We distilled last year 87,846,834 gallons of liquor, not including 1,430,353 gallons of brandy, making in all 88,777,187 gallons of alcoholic spirits. Export bar tenders estimate 63 drinks to the gallon, therefore there were 5,604,062,891 drinks produced in this country.

A conservative estimate of how much was imbibed across counters is about 37,000,000 gallons of whisky, brandy and other distilled spirits; or, in other words we drank 9,090,000,000 glasses of whisky for which we paid over the bar $600,000,000, or $50,000,000 more than all the annual appropriations of Congress combined.

This represents a consumption of one hundred glasses of whisky each year for every man, woman and child between the rock bound Pacific and the storm tossed Atlantic; or, counting only the male adults, 500 glasses per week each.

Of beer the figures are equally astounding. The consumption was 31,962,943 barrels; that is 12,785,169,200 glasses, representing an expenditure for this mode of Teutonic hilarity of $617,258,460, or about ten cents for each inhabitant. In the neighborhood of two hundred and twenty glasses are charged up in this calculation against each of us as our annual allowance; therefore, if we do not average our daily glass, we may be sure that our neighbors are getting the benefit of our abstinence.

By estimating this year's internal revenue receipts from spirits on the basis of last year's product, with the increased tax of $1.10 per gallon the internal revenue receipts will be $97,674,905.

In Memorium.

Died, at her residence in Crittenden county, Ky., July 27, 1894, Mrs. Matilda J. Bradford, wife of T. R. Bradford, and daughter of Sarah J. Dobbs, after an illness of several months.

She professed faith in Christ in 1880, and joined the United Baptist church, of which she remained a consistent member until death. She expressed her perfect willingness to go whenever it was God's loving will to call her away from this cold and icy world up to heaven where all is light. She began talking at half past seven o'clock in the evening, and talked until eleven. She said she did not fear death. What a delightful thought to have Christ's presence with believers at the hour of death to cheer and comfort their departing spirits. She was an affectionate wife and mother and a humble Christian. She leaves a husband and three little children; also a mother and four sisters, who have our sympathy, and besides those she leaves a number of friends and acquaintances who can comprehend the grief of the bereaved family when they looked upon her lifeless form and knew she was no more.

She leaves three sweet little children; a little girl and two boys; little Altie kissed her mama and bade her last farewell.

Before she died she threw her arms around her mother's neck and told her that she was dying and clasped her sister's hands and bade them farewell, and said the golden train was coming to bear her to those who had gone on before, and said she wished they could go with her.

She had a beautiful smile on her face; we were all so happy to see that countenance, although we felt sad and lonely at the parting hour. She told us not to weep for her for she would soon be at home with her blessed Saviour, but while the bereaved ones were so sad at parting there must have been great joy in heaven as the angels of love safely anchored the boat near the golden shore to land a departed loved one to her eternal and happy home.

We as friends tender our sincere sympathy to the husband and children of the deceased and commend them to God, who is too wise and good to do wrong and who doeth all things well, and would say weep not, grieve not, for your loss is her eternal gain; so strive to behold with an eye of faith that happy home that you may meet your loved one where beauty smiles eternally. Funeral services by Rev. H. B. Fox, at the Long grave yard.

Bettie Teer.

There is no medicine so often needed in every home and so admirably adapted to the purposes for which it was intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about a third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate attention before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when the Pain Balm is kept on hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious, a troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two. A lame back may be cured and several days of valuable time saved or a pain in the side or chest relieved without paying a doctor bill. Procure a 50 cent bottle at once and you will never regret it. For sale by Moore & Orme.

Thoughts for the Sabbath.

There is something wrong in the Christianity of the man who never prays for a people he doesn't like.

Many a man refuses to love his neighbor as himself because he has a garden and his neighbor has chickens.

The gift that is always most pleasing in the eyes of God is the one that is associated with the blood of sacrifice.

The man who loves his neighbor as himself will not have to be taken into court to make him do what is right.

Many a man who started out to reform the whole world changed his mind before he got into the adjoining county.

It may be that the reason why Methuselah lived so long was that some young woman had married him for money.

Salvation doesn't depend so much upon what the head thinks about God as upon what the heart is doing with Christ.

Either selfishness or laziness is the prompting motive of the man who is always on the hunt for an easy place.

Get people to believe that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and the church entertainment will die a sudden death.

God is not worshipped in spirit and truth in the church that has to go into the show business to raise money to pay its debts.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by J. Gender man of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia, succeeding lagrippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last for hours with little intermission, and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended to me Dr. King's New Discovery. It was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in its results." Trial bottles free at H. K. Woods drug store; regular size 50c and $1.

Every mother should know that croup can be prevented. The first symptom of true croup is hoarseness. This is followed by a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's cough remedy is given freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the cough has developed, it will prevent the attack; 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Moore & Orme.

The formula of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is well known to the medical profession and universally approved. The reputation of the firm guarantees excellence and uniformity in the medicine, and the world's experience for nearly half a century has fully demonstrated its value.

Purchasers of property for more than five dollars will be required to give note with good security. Said property consists of hogs, horses, cows, farming utensils, household and kitchen furniture, and a growing crop of corn.

Feeding Wheat.

"The price of wheat is very low, in fact, it is abnormally low, while the price of corn compared with the price of wheat is abnormally high, and if the reports of the diminution in the corn crop made by the statisticians are correct the price of corn will remain high when compared with the price of wheat. For many years the advisability of feeding wheat instead of corn has been considered by progressive farmers, and in all the agricultural papers much is now printed on this subject. Among many advanced farmers who have experimented and studied the question it is held that a bushel of wheat for feeding purposes is equal to a bushel and a peck of corn. In most markets now corn is about 20 per cent. per bushel higher than wheat, and in farming regions as a rule the difference is greater. In view of this difference in price, and the growing use of wheat for feeding purposes, the grain merchants in large grain markets are making inquiries as to the probable diminution this will cause in the wheat sent to market and the increase in the amount of corn marketed. Of course, nothing like a correct answer can yet be given but it is not improbable that the market will be so affected as to bring the prices of wheat and corn nearer together.

"All the country papers throughout the West are telling how wheat is being generally fed instead of corn, and in some of the Middle States the same thing is being done.

"The Chicago Herald prints a letter from a farmer in Kansas, giving his experience in feeding wheat. He says:

"As to my own personal experience I will state that I fed 9,000 bushels of wheat last winter of my own raising on my farm in Edwinstown county, Central Kansas. About half of this was fed to cattle in the form of ground or chopped wheat, mixed with an equal quantity of ground corn. The remainder was ground coarsely and fed direct to hogs in the nature of slop or swill. Both results were highly satisfactory. Careful experiment showed that a bushel of dry corn put on fourteen pounds of pork and a bushel of wheat ground and fed as slop made seventeen pounds of pork. I am this year feeling on this same farm 16,000 bushels of wheat. Four thousand bushels of this was my own raising, and 12,000 bushels were purchased locally for the purpose at prices ranging from 28 to 37 cents per bushel, or at an average price of 35 cents. I sold on the Kansas City market yesterday a car load of pigs fattened entirely on wheat, which brought $8.10 per hundred, and average 249 pounds. These pigs never knew the taste of corn.

"Where a bushel of wheat, costing 35 cents, puts on seventeen pounds of 6 cent pork, there can be no question of the profitability of wheat feeding.

"This is of interest not only to farmers but to merchants, for the quantity of wheat fed this winter may make an entire change in the estimated surplus to be carried over to next year. "It is also important to farmers in Tennessee who have wheat and corn crops. If they can use the low priced wheat for feeding purposes and produce good results, and sell the higher priced corn, for which it seems there will be an active market, they will do a good store of business.—Nashville American.

John G. Mauger, editor of the Sunbeam, Seligman, Mo., who named Grover Cleveland for the Presidency in November, 1882, while he was mayor of Buffalo, N. Y., is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy. He says: "I have used it for the past five years, and consider it the best preparation of the kind in the market. It is as staple as sugar and coffee in this state. It is an article of merit and should be used in every household. For sale by Moore & Orme.

I have derived more benefit from the use of Electropoise than from all other remedies combined. I think it the greatest invention of the age. It can not be praised too highly.—Mrs. M. E. Gorman, Sadleville, Ky., August 20.

John H. Davis, Esq., of Barbourville, Ky.: The Electropoise is the best all around doctor I know of. My wife suffered from effects of la grippe for several years, also a complication of other ailments; now she is entirely well. Indigestion bothered me a great deal; am now well. One of my neighbors is using it for lung trouble, and reports improvement.

As a curative agent the Electropoise can not be equaled. Nearly 1,000 have been put out from this office in the last three months.
